FUND COMMENTARY

Our global and local interest rate outlook has remained consistent in recent months: we anticipated a prolonged period of rates remaining higher for longer, even amid signs of moderating inflation. Historical patterns indicated that Central Bank policy tends to stay restrictive for 6 to 18 months following a tightening cycle before easing begins. It has now been 9 months since the last interest rate hike by the US, South African, and Namibian Reserve Banks. Given no immediate recessionary pressures, we expect rate cuts only towards the end of this year.

Financial markets globally are still navigating complex circumstances and persistent geopolitical uncertainties. In this context, money market funds offer remarkable stability and attractive real returns. During the last quarter, money market rates in Namibia increased across the yield curve, from previous lower yields driven by rate cuts priced in too early. Our disciplined approach was rewarded as we capitalized on these higher rates, thereby enhancing value for our investors. Currently, our Fund offers returns exceeding 3% above inflation.

KEY HOLDINGS

Collective Investment Schemes (unit trusts) are generally invested over a medium to long-term period. The value of participatory interests (units) may fluctuate, and past performance is not necessarily a guide to predict future performance. Unit Trust prices are calculated on a net asset value basis, which is the total capital value invested including any income accrual and less permissible deductions from the portfolio divided by the number of units in issue. Income accruals are made daily and paid out monthly. The following permissible charges are levied against the portfolio: Brokerage, auditor's fees, bank charges, trustee fees and all other related fees. Upon request, a schedule of the applicable fees and charges can be made available by the management company. Commission and incentives may be paid and if so, would be included in the overall costs.

The Sisedi Money Market Fund is administered by Boutique Collective Investment Namibia ("BCIN") (PTY) Ltd (2020/0330), a NAMFISA registered (25/9/5/3) Unit Trust Management Company.
